The Grip of Evil

SOMEWHERE last night a grief-stricken mother huddled in a squalid quarters, awaited anxiously the return of her daughter, hoping against hope as time fled on into the early hours of the morning incessantly crying "give me back my child."

But the child, too young to feel keenly the pangs of separation, snuggled by its maternal parent, is snugly ensconced, we suppose, in the bosom of a pretty and kind-hearted young lady, who through the fate of numbers was elected to the guardianship of the little offspring. It is a very pretty baby, of its kind, and as we viewed its beautiful little head with a bright red ribbon about its neck, it was being tenderly transferred into other arms we were sure there were many who were prone to envy it.

Whatever may be the feelings of the "old hen" that lost her "child" we are sure the happiness of the little one is complete.

Whoever was the Relentless Rudolph who robbed the coop, he has no part in the story of the "baby" which was given away at the Hippodrome last night. But the wizard, Richards, looms up the big hero, for it was he, who with his magic wand upset the calculations of thousands of readers and six hundred or more eye witnesses. And the plucky Miss Mable Hines was ready to nobly assume the responsibility with which she was threatened, for it was she who held the winning number. Moved by a sense of propriety and a compassionate regard for the inexperienced young lady, Richards changed the baby from what it was generally thought to be to what it is now generally known to be—a duck. But it was a baby, nearly full grown, however. Yet it was neither pig, dog nor animal—"as advertised." The incident furnished a whole lot of amusement and was so cleverly and delicately maneuvered, without causing the recipient the slightest embarrassment, that Miss Hines enjoyed as much as anyone—and probably more, unless it was the baby itself, which cooed, but in a language that only a chicken fancier like myself could understand, rhapsodized: "I see your little ducky; who's little ducky is you?"

Whoever loves a horse—and who does not, or dog or any number of animals and birds, domesticated or otherwise, will find an added interest in the picture at the Grand today. The kindly character of "Pasquale" is understood by the denizens of the barn yard and forest and must necessarily appeal strongly to human sympathies. George Heban and Myrtle Steadman are starred in a very excellent cast. It is a Morocco production.

The Great Richards, who has been pleasing large audiences at the Hippodrome theatre all this week, will give the last two performances tonight, the first one at 7:45 and the last starting at 9 o'clock.

At the matinee this afternoon ten savings accounts in a local bank, were given to as many children. Everything is in readiness for the big production of "The Two Orphans" next week by the Lewis-Oliver Players. Mr. Lewis has returned from Philadelphia, where he selected the costumes for the play, and says they are the best and most handsome ever seen on the stage in this city. Next week will be the farewell week of the Lewis-Oliver Players for a time at least. The following week Mr. Lewis will begin giving the patrons of the Hippodrome first-class musicals, presenting some of the very best that can be secured. Before any company is booked at the Hipp Mr. Lewis will have a representative see their show in other cities.

For the farewell week of Stock Mr. Lewis will have many surprises for the patrons of this popular house. Monday matinee there will be presents for the ladies; Tuesday night will be "Pay Night" and Friday night will be the big country store. There will also be a big amateur night during the week.

"The Way of Patience" one of the three pictures on the screen at the Nelson today deals in character—to a very large extent and typifies a class that helped largely in the early settlement and development of this continent—the Quaker. It is a three-act drama of absorbing interest and is largely educational to the student of human nature.

"The Child of Destiny" which pleased a large audience at the Princess last night will be repeated today. Irene Fenwick whose penchant for overalls was markedly conspicuous in this picture, won her way into the hearts of many film patrons who saw her for the first time yesterday.

OLD STAGER.

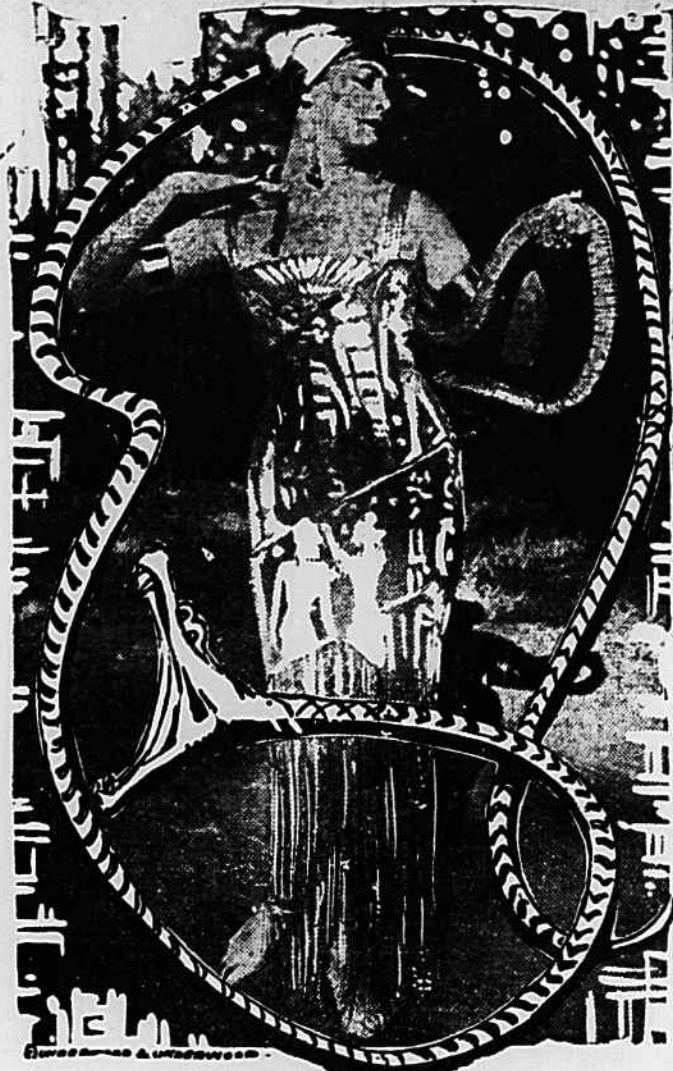

"JUST A MINUTE!"

By Charles B. Driscoll.
"Just a minute," said the fair one,
And I waited thirty-five.
Then I ventured, "Please next Tuesday
Let me know if you're alive!"
So I lost a fine position
In the lady's good esteem,
And the next time that I met her,
She will greet me with a scream.

"Just a minute!" came the answer,
While I dangled on the phone;
So I held it forty minutes,
Then I smashed it with a stone,
And asked for Dr. Killum,
For I felt I would pay my bill,
But I took my dough and spent it,
And she's waiting for it still.

If you have an ailing kitten,
Or a yellow jaundiced cow,
You won't tell it "Just a minute!"
You will do and do it now!
If you have an office helper
Who says "Just a minute, please!"
Get him, he him, crack his noodle,
Have a good piece of cheese!

WOMEN THREATEN TO BURN BODY OF MAN WHO KIDNAPPED 12-YEAR-OLD GIRL!

ETHEL LETHIG, 12-YEAR-OLD GIRL WHO WAS KIDNAPPED

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 7.—Deputy sheriffs are closely guarding the body of Adolph Dickson, shot while fighting off a posse, from women who threatened to burn him. A posse sought Dickson, charging he kidnapped and mistreated Catherine Lethig, 12.

Forty women engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict with sheriffs, yelling, "Burn him! burn him!" They carried cans of kerosene and boxes of matches.

The Lethig girl is still suffering from experiences she had with Dickson after he took her to Shelbyville, Ind., where he registered at a hotel as "Edward Adams and daughter."

When overtaken on a road beyond Shelbyville, Dickson aimed his shotgun at the posse, but before he could pull the trigger Sheriff Jacob Smith sent a bullet through his head.

Word of Different Meanings.

A "rookie" is a man who is learning to be a soldier—the "raw recruit." The term is English. The word "rook" used to be used for a variety of things. A gambling den was a rook. So was a barracks. The frequenter of either became a "rookie."

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

WHEN CROSS FEVERISH AND SICK GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has full directions for babies children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

NELSON Monday

POWER OF THE CROSS
This story is strictly out of the ordinary, and deals with a beautiful young girl who turns aside love for gold, and finds too late that she has traded her happiness for wealth that she cannot enjoy. Her husband dies later and she returns to her first love to find that he has taken up the Cross of the Master. She pleads with him in vain for the power of the Cross is greater than the power of love.
